

ADVANCE GUARDS ARE READY FOR CONTESTS

POLITICIANS BEGIN TO ARRIVE IN CHICAGO FOR BIG CONVENTION SQUABBLE.

NEBRASKA CONTEST UP

Ohio State Convention Held This Afternoon—South Dakota Primary Close.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chicago, June 3.—The vanguard of the political host who are to make Chicago their campaign grounds until the nomination of a republican candidate for president, arrived today and hotel corridors and republican national committee headquarters were thronged with the skirmish line.

Taft Workers. Joseph B. Keating of Indiana opened the Taft headquarters in readiness for the arrival of Congressman William H. McKinley, head of the Taft forces, who is expected before night.

Roosevelt Men. Ormsbee Merrill, who is to represent the Roosevelt men in the national delegation, also arrived with his wife to be with the committee.

Howell's Claim. The claim of R. H. Howell, elected republican national committeeman from Nebraska that he should be seated in place of Victor Roosevelt, the present committeeman from Nebraska, proved to be the main topic of conversation among the politicians.

No Part. Mr. Merrill and other Roosevelt leaders said they were taking no part in the Howell controversy. Alexander H. Howell, head of the Illinois Roosevelt league, arrived from the Oyster Bay conference. He said:

Revel's Statement. "The great thing which we are working for is the nomination of Theodore Roosevelt. We shall stick to that great idea and pay little attention to non-essentials."

In South Dakota. Sioux Falls, S. D., June 3.—The primary campaign in South Dakota will close this evening. Interest centers in the three-cornered contest for delegates to the republican convention between Taft, Roosevelt and La Follette. The managers of the presidential candidate all issue statements today claiming the state.

Dahl on Stump. Madison, Wis., June 3.—State Treasurer A. H. Dahl has left for South Dakota to aid in the presidential campaign of Senator La Follette in the one day left before the primary. He is billed for three speeches.

Arizona Mix-up. Tucson, Ariz., June 3.—Taft and Roosevelt delegates held state conventions in the same hall today and each elected six delegates to the Chicago convention.

Ohio Convention. Columbus, Ohio, June 3.—Special trains and traction cars this morning brought delegates and politicians to Columbus where the managers of the campaign were busy making the final preparations for the opening of the state convention at four this afternoon at Memorial hall.

Numerous conferences were in progress this morning between the Taft and Roosevelt managers and the various delegations.

Each of the twenty-one district delegations will begin active work at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon when they will meet in various parts of the state house to select one member for each of the following committees: Credentials, rules, permanent organization, resolutions and the state central committee.

Chairman Walter S. Brown of the state central committee, and Roosevelt's manager, will open up the convention at four o'clock following the short address in which he will introduce United States Senator Theodore Burton, the temporary chairman, who will deliver the keynote speech which has caused much speculation this morning in regard to his text.

Many of the delegates declared that Burton would give President Taft a strong endorsement, while Roosevelt leaders declared the speech would be neutral.

Nevada Democrats Assemble. Reno, Nev., June 3.—Democrats of Nevada assembled at Fallon today for a state convention to select delegates to the national convention at Baltimore. The followers of Champ Clark and Woodrow Wilson are contending for control of the delegation.

No Compromise. "No compromise" was the slogan of both Taft and Roosevelt leaders as the hour approached today when they would go into convention at Chicago.

United States Senator Theodore H. Burton, temporary chairman of the convention also declared there would be no compromise in the convention and said the slogan that the delegation would be split, was not founded on fact.

Condition Dangerous. Senator Theodore H. Burton, delivering the keynote speech before the republican state convention here today, declared the country was confronted with a crisis far surpassing any through which it has passed in the memory of the present generation.

He declared the absence from the polls of a great percentage of voters in the recent state primaries.

Forewarning many of the tenets that will be laid down in the platform to be adopted at the coming national republican convention, he urged monetary reforms, tariff revision based upon accurate information, the lowering of some duties with due regard to adequate aid to American industry, a federal incorporation law, conservation of national resources, safeguarding of labor, workmen's compensation law, effective steps for peace among nations and other policies.

He reviewed the high cost of living, which he traced to various causes and declared they were attributable to the present tariff.

NEGRO ATTACKS ON WHITES REPORTED

American Consul Reports Bands Near Cienfuegos Are Terrorizing Whites in That Section of Cuba.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, June 3.—Although the Cuban government has declared the insurrection movement entirely crushed in Santa Clara province, American consul Baer, at Cienfuegos, reported to the state department today, demoralization was extensive and that a number of white families were taking refuge in the town.

He reports that negro bands are making attacks and that several are operating in the vicinity of Cienfuegos and Trinidad in the same province. Large numbers of strange negroes appearing in the province are believed to be from Haiti and Jamaica.

A distinct improvement in the conditions in the neighborhood of Daiquiri, Cuba, is reported to the state department today from the New York headquarters of the Iron company whose plant was threatened by the insurgents. The state department, however, has no advice of its own.

Many Refugees. Santiago, June 3.—Many refugees from Llanaya, which was seized by the rebels on Wednesday, are arriving here. They report that upwards of 600 negroes entered the town shouting "Death to the Whites." They pillaged and burned the stores. The situation appears increasingly grave, and much alarm is felt in this city.

FOREIGNERS LEAVE CHIHUAHUA TODAY

Fear of Attack on City Causes Many Including Large Number of Americans to Flee

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Chihuahua, June 3.—Out of a normal foreign population of at least 2,000 this city contains exactly 106 foreign residents today. Of the 1,000 Americans who ordinarily live here only 32 men and 12 women remain.

An official census issued today shows that fear of an attack on the rebel city by the advancing federalists has practically depopulated the town. 30,000 people inhabit Chihuahua in time of peace, but today less than 20,000 are here.

Score Victory. Washington, June 3.—The Mexican rebels have scored another victory south of Torreon. Reports to the state department today declared that after a hard fight the insurgents captured the town of San Miguel del Mezquital, Zacatecas, just across the line from Durango.

At Torreon. Torreon, June 3.—A clash growing out of jealousy between regulars and volunteers resulted yesterday in the killing of two men and the wounding of five others. The demand of Gen. Campa, the rebel commander for the surrender of Torreon and Laredo is looked upon as bluff. The inhabitants exhibited indifference toward the threat. Gen. Huerta is proceeding slowly and meeting with no resistance.

M'GOVERN REFUSES TO SANCTION ROOT; CALLS HIM A TORY

Chairman of Wisconsin Delegation to Convention Replies to Appeal For Root Support in Decisive Manner.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Madison, Wis., June 3.—That Senator Elihu Root will not receive the backing of the Wisconsin delegation to chairman of the republican national convention is strongly implied as a result of an exchange of telegrams between William Barnes, Jr., of New York and Gov. Francis E. McGovern, chairman of the Wisconsin delegation to the Chicago meeting. In a terse message sent to Barnes yesterday, the governor described the New York senator as a "Standard statesman," whose election would "be a defeat in November."

In a lengthy telegram to the governor last Saturday, William Barnes, Jr., appealed for the support of the Wisconsin delegation as necessary to the defeat of Roosevelt in the convention. He declared that the senator's nomination "can lead only to disaster."

The governor's office is not advised whether Mr. Barnes had sent similar telegrams to other members of the Wisconsin delegation. Or whether Mr. Barnes had appealed to Gov. McGovern alone as chairman of the Badger contingent.

Gov. McGovern's reply to the Barnes' telegram was as follows: "William Barnes, Jr., New York. Senator Root represents political views and methods that should not be sanctioned at the Chicago convention. He is a standard statesman, while the rank and file of the republican party are progressive. The people have a right to rule, and their wishes concerning the organization of the convention and the adoption of a platform are now well known. To ignore this judgment recorded in almost every republican state from the Atlantic to the Pacific by electing Senator Root or any other Tory as temporary chairman will convict the party of ineffectuality and invite defeat in November."

Barnes' telegram asking for the support of the Badger delegation was as follows: "To Francis E. McGovern, Madison, Wis. The national committee has selected Senator Root of New York for temporary chairman of the convention at Chicago. It is reported that the Roosevelt forces will oppose the action of the committee. I am writing you in behalf of the New York delegation, with the exception of a very few, to ask your support for Senator Root for temporary chairman. We believe this contest is the most serious one which has afflicted the republican party and that the attempt to nominate Mr. Roosevelt can lead only to disaster. The doctrine which he has advocated we declared in our platform at the Rochester convention to be subversive of our form of government. Will you please wire me, New York City, collect, whether we can rely upon your support for Senator Root for temporary chairman."

Chicago, June 3.—Five open air schools for children of Chicago who have tubercular tendencies, will be opened this summer in place of the three which have been conducted for the last two years. NEW YORK WAITERS' STRIKE STILL ON Both Waiters and Cooks and Employers Claim Victory in Strike Which Commenced Second Week Today.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

New York, June 3.—The strike of waiters and cooks for higher wages, shorter hours and union recognition, entered upon its second week today with both strikers and employers claiming the victory. Of the two scores hotels and restaurants affected, less than half a dozen had closed their dining room doors and the remainder appeared to be fairly well equipped with strike breakers. The hotel managers declared that the strike was broken, while union leaders laughed at the statement.

True to its promise the union carried its fight to the downtown restaurants at the luncheon hour today. Sixty-five cooks and waiters walked out at Monaghan's on Fulton street and the place was closed, and 140 employees struck at Hann's restaurant on Park row. A union official deserted his colleagues and declared the waiters were waging a hopeless fight.

INTEREST IN IOWA SENATORIAL FIGHT

Primary Contest for State and Congressional Offices Held Today—Young Opposes Kenyon.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Des Moines, Iowa, June 3.—A state wide primary is in progress in Iowa today in which republican, democratic and other parties will choose nominees for the United States Senate, congressmen in the eleventh district, governor and a full set of state, county and township officers.

The polls opened at seven o'clock in the city and early reports indicate that a fair vote would be registered. In the country districts the polls opened at nine o'clock and in both city and county the polls will close at eight o'clock tonight.

The senatorial contest overshadows all of the other contests in today's voting. Senator Kenyon, who is opposing former Senator LaFayette Young, editor of the Des Moines Capital, for the republican nomination, was preparing to make a vigorous fight to retain his seat in the senate while the other candidate is confident that he would be able to return to the position he held for five months following the death of the late Senator G. P. Dolliver.

Except in one or two districts there will be little change in the personnel of the Iowa delegation in Congress.

RAILROAD CLERKS NEGOTIATE FOR NEW WAGE AGREEMENT.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Boston, Mass., June 3.—The annual convention of the International Brotherhood of Railroad Clerks held in this city today with an attendance of several hundred delegates from all parts of the United States, Canada and Mexico. The clerks are now negotiating for a new agreement with the fifteen leading railroads of New England and the eastern states and this matter will be one of the most important to be considered by the convention. The clerks ask for the establishment of the eight-hour workday, a wage minimum of $2.25, time and a half for overtime, pay for holidays, a fifteen-day vacation annually, and a general wage increase for all of at least 25 cents a day.

BOARDING AND ROOMING HOUSE DIRECTORY.

Rooms and board will never be at such a premium in Janesville as they will the third week in this month during the state convention of England. 20,000 visitors are expected; and to handle such a crowd the rooming capacity of the city will be taxed to the utmost.

To facilitate the finding of rooms and board for the visitors the Gazette will run a rooming and boarding house directory during the entire week, June 17-22. The directory will be run on the want ad page and the charge for the insertion of the names will be the usual rate for "want ads." One-half cent a word and one cent a word when charged for each insertion.

It is essential that the people who wish to avail themselves of this opportunity to make their rooms bring a revenue during the week, get the fact listed here at once. All early names will be filed here and all inquiries will be answered from this list.

KERN TO LEAD NEW FIGHT ON LORIMER IN SENATE TUESDAY

Indiana Senator to Give Opening Address of Opposition in Attack Which Will Last Two Weeks.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Washington, June 3.—The fight over Senator Lorimer's election will come up in the senate tomorrow when Senator Kern, leading the forces opposed to the Illinois senator, will make the first speech in what promises to be at least a two weeks' debate.

Senator Lea, of Tennessee, Senator Kenyon of Iowa, and others are expected to speak against Mr. Lorimer, and many will speak for him.

Senator Lorimer will be in his seat and expects to speak in his own defense. Senator Lorimer arrived here today from Chicago. He declined to answer directly when asked if he had any intention of resigning and declined to discuss his plans.

Senator Clark of Wyoming today entered a motion in the senate for the printing of the constitution of the United States.

"Who is the author of the document," asked Senator Snodgrass, who had only heard a part of the request. When the laughter at the Utah senator's expense had subsided, he asked the purpose of the order.

Mr. Clark replied that it merely was for the information of the senate and the public.

Berger Active. Representative Berger, of Wisconsin, the only socialist in congress, today lodged a protest with Attorney General Wickham against the action of Judge Hanford in Seattle in depriving John Olson of his citizenship rights because the latter "wanted to change the constitution." Berger declared he would take the matter up with President Taft if the attorney general declined to act.

Makes Threat. Later, at the house, Representative Berger let it be known he had filed affidavits with Attorney General Wickham which he would make the basis of an attempt at impeachment proceedings against Judge Hanford unless the department of justice acted promptly.

Gives Free Pardon. President Taft today granted an unconditional pardon to Willard N. Jenne of Portland, Ore., convicted of land frauds in the famous cases in which the late Senator Mitchell of Oregon and Ulysses Hermann, former commissioner of the general land office, were alleged to have been implicated.

Adds Submarines. In addition to the battleships the senate committee provides for eight submarine torpedo boats instead of four voted by the house; retains the house provision for six torpedo boat destroyers; two fuel ships to be built in a Pacific coast navyyard; and a submarine tender.

Shipping Bill. The house today passed a bill designed to protect American shipping and commerce against alleged monopoly of the so-called foreign "shipping trust." The committee introducing the measure reported that 30 per cent of all shipping entering American ports was in foreign ships and that no competition existed.

Return Naval Bill. The house ways and means committee returned to the senate the met, tariff revision bill with an ultimatum that the house would refuse to agree to the amendment repealing the Canadian reciprocity act even though it agreed to every other thing. Members of the committee declared a deadlock was imminent if the senate refused to concede.

Eliminate Board. Provision for President Taft's tariff board was eliminated in the sundry bill appropriation bill as reported to the house today. The annual appropriation of $25,000 for the president's traveling expenses was allowed, but the total appropriation was cut to a little more than $100,000,000 making heavy reduction in provisions for the Panama canal, public buildings, and other products.

Navy Resolution. The house judiciary committee today agreed to report favorably the Norris resolution aimed at the so-called "coffee" trust in the United States.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

London, June 3.—It is estimated that 110,000 men were idle today along the Thames and Medway rivers. These include dockers, carmen, seamen, firemen, and members of the builders' trade. This is a considerable increase as many union men joined their striking comrades during the week's end. On the other hand, however, there were more men working than was the case on Saturday. The position of the dockers is becoming very serious and unless the strike is speedily ended it will mean semi-starvation for many residents of the river side.

WELCOME TO GERMAN FLEET IS EXTENDED BY PRESIDENT TAFT

Round of Festivities and Official Functions for German Naval Officers.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]

Fort Monroe, Va., June 3.—President Taft's official welcome of the visit of the German warships began with a round of festivities and official functions that will end only when the squadron has waved farewell for home.

The Kaiser's three big fighting machines that have come to the United States to return the visit of the American fleet to Kiel last year came up to Hampton Roads from Lynhaven Bay early this morning escorted by ships of Admiral Winslow with the third division of the Atlantic fleet.

Both squadrons roared out a twenty one gun salute as the Mayflower steamed into the Roads with President Taft and the German ambassador Count Von Bismarck on board early this morning. The American ships slipped their cables and headed down the tides.

The first streak of dawn disclosed them gliding down the Virginia coast to meet the visitors. On board both squadrons for the last three days preparations have been going on for the reception.

Just at daybreak it was announced on the German ships that the American squadron was approaching, from the bridge of Moltke the German flagship a string of signal flags broke out and waved a message to the Station and Bremen. The squadron then glided into Hampton Roads to the scene of the first battle of their kind a half a century ago and the ceremony of the official reception proceeded.

There are two princes aboard the German squadron; one is Prince Henry of Prussia, the other Prince Christian. Prince Henry is not the same Prince Henry who visited the United States several years ago as representative of the Kaiser. Neither Prince Henry or Prince Christian are of the Imperial family. They come merely as lieutenants of the German Navy.

President Taft and his party leave on the Mayflower later today for Washington and the German officers will leave tomorrow after they have been the guests of the officers and men of American squadron ashore. While the German officers are being entertained by the American officers the German sailors will be having a time with the Yankee tars in athletic contests and other entertainments.

Sea Snakes Hard to Get.

Collecting sea snakes for the scientific institutions is a difficult process. If the collector is to obtain anything like a fair proportion of the 60 odd species he must cruise through Malayans seas in a small boat and be ever on the watch. The only way to obtain a series of the species is to shoot them. Sea snakes come regularly to the surface for air, but the collector is lucky if he gets one out of every ten snakes he sees.

Squashed Eccentric Poet.

One day Charles Baudelaire, the eccentric French poet, came to Maximo du Camp's rooms with his hair dyed green. Du Camp affected not to notice it. Baudelaire did all he could to direct attention to it and finally, as his friend persisted in not noticing it, he burst out: "Don't you see anything strange about me to-day?" Du Camp answered: "Not at all; lots of people have green hair." Baudelaire left at once, disgusted.

SPORT SNAP SHOTS by DAN McCARTY

(By Dan McCarty.)

The law against betting at horse races which passed the Louisiana legislature a couple of years ago has all but killed the sport in that state. Consequently, a bill was recently introduced in the Louisiana lower house to leave the question of again permitting bets to be made at the races to a vote of the people. The bill provides for a state racing commission and the use of the Paris mutual system of betting.

Arrangements have been made to run a special train from Chicago to Las Vegas for the Jack Johnson-Jim Flynn fight on July 2 and arrive at Las Vegas on the evening of July 3. The excursionists will arrive back in Chicago on July 6. The fare will be $37.50.

Joan, 2:01 1-4, the pride of the famous Shaw racing stable and the fastest record mare now in active training, will be retired from the turf and reserved for breeding purposes unless her owner changes his mind within the next few days. Already arrangements have been made to mate Joan with one of the most highly touted of the younger sires.

The reason Captain Shaw has practically decided to withdraw Joan from active racing is because he has, in Grace, 2:05 1-4 a mare that he believes will be able to hold her own with any of the fast ones in training and believes that it would be foolishness to keep both mares in training when it is possible to only start one in each race.

Manager McGraw, of the New York Nationals, is ambitious for his team to make a new record this year in the number of games won. The record is now held by the Chicago Nationals, who in 1904 won 116 games.

The Boston Nationals were the first to win more than 100 championship games when they captured 102 in 1892. They repeated the trick with the same number of wins in 1898. The Brooklyn won 101 in 1898, and the Pittsburgh 103 in 1902. The New York team had 106 victories in 1901 and 105 in 1905. The Chicago Cubs after their record breaking performance in 1906, won 107 in 1907 and 101 in 1910. The Pittsburgh took 110 games in 1909.

The Philadelphia are the only American league champions to surpass the century mark. They won 102 games in 1910 and 101 last year. The New York Nationals finished their 1911 season with 99 victories.

CARDINALS DEFEAT BELOIT OPPONENTS

Golden Eagle Team Bowled Before Janesville Players in Contest Yesterday—Score 2 to 1.

Yesterday afternoon the Janesville Cardinals crossed bats with the Golden Eagle team of Beloit. The Eagles won two weeks ago and thought they were champs. The Cards, however, were strong on the come back game and completely outplayed them yesterday. Ten innings with the score at the end of the game 2 to 1 in favor of the Cardinals. To look at the score one would think that the Cards had a hard time beating them, it was easy picking all the time if the umpire had kept out of the game. The home boys were given about the worst deal that anybody could be given, and had they not brought Cudahy Butters along with them they would have been beaten. After the umpire had got so bad that he was biased, he withdrew in favor of Butters, who gave the Cards a fair chance to win and they took the chance. The Cards

CLOSE SCORES MARK OPENING GAMES IN COMMERCIAL LEAGUE

Y. M. C. A., Hanson, Parker, and Recorder Nine Returned Victors Saturday—Parkers Held to One Hit.

Strife for supremacy in the Commercial league started with a vengeance Saturday afternoon. That it will be a fierce struggle to the end, was certain from the close score and the narrow margins of the winners. The four teams who gained the enviable 1,000 mark were those representing the Y. M. C. A., Hanson Furniture company, Parker Pen company, and the Recorder Printing company.

One Hit to Parkers.

In the second game of the double header at the Park Grounds between the Gazette nine and the Parker Pen team, former champions, twirler O. Schmidt of the printers' squad, kept the pen makers guessing and allowed but one hit in the five innings when rain interfered to call a halt. Several costly errors save the victory to the pen makers, however, by a score of 3 to 2. The Gazette batters found heavy for three safe singles. Line up:

HARMONY BALL PLAYERS WIN FROM AFTON TEAM

The Harmony ball tossers again showed their ability in the baseball art when they trimmed the Afton Giants 4 to 2 on the latter's grounds. The game was an easy one for the Harmony nine and the size of the score would have been greater if the local bunch were not forced to take the early train or walk six miles to the Interurban station. The lineup was:

HARMONY: Broege, cf; Mulligan, 1b; Hoss, cf; E. Brummond, p; Falter, 2b; E. Brummond, 1b; Parr, cf; Miner, 3b; Muenchow, 1b.

PATHFINDER OF TOUR IN CITY TOMORROW

Started From Milwaukee This Morning To Lay Out Route For Third Annual Reliability Tour.

The Case pathfinder, in charge of Pilot M. C. Moore left Milwaukee this morning at 9 o'clock, from the Hotel Paster, to lay out the route of the third annual reliability tour held under the auspices of the Wisconsin State Automobile Association and the rules of the American Automobile association. This contest will be held under what is known as Grade III rules which are the same rules under which the 1911 Glidden tour was held and under which the 1912 Glidden tour will be run. These rules provide for penalty for work done on a car's running time only. The rules also provide for an extremely low schedule and this schedule will not be much over ten miles an hour.

The first day's run of the pathfinder car will be from Milwaukee to Beloit via South Milwaukee, Racine, Kenosha, Burlington, Lyons, Geneva, Elkhorn, Delavan, Darion, Allou Grove and Clinton.

Tuesday, June 4, will see the pathfinder car going from Beloit to Harzoo, passing through Janesville, Milton, Whitewater, Fort Atkinson, Jefferson, Johnsons Creek, Lake Mills, Waterloo, Marshall, Sun Prairie, Madison, Middleton, Springfield, Corners, Sauk City, Prairie du Sac to Harzoo.

On the third day the pathfinder car will run from Harzoo to Oshkosh, passing through Beloit, Kilmory, Cheney, Lewistown, Portage, Wyocena, Itho, Doylestown, Fall River, Columbus, Beaver Dam, Horicon, Mayville, Theresa, Lomira, Byron, Fond du Lac, Van Dyne, Black Wolf.

The fourth day the pathfinder car will run from Oshkosh to Green Bay, passing through Whitefish, Neenah, Monasha, Appleton, Greenview, Hortonville, New London, Sugar Bush, Deer Creek, Clintonville, Embarras, Belle Plaine, Shawano, Bondell, Angolen, Pinnegans, to Green Bay.

The fifth day the pathfinder car will go from Green Bay to Milwaukee passing through Glenmore, Denmark, Larrabee, Mishicot, Two Rivers, Manitowish, Newton, Cleveland, Sheboygan, Sheboygan Falls, Glisville, Cedar Grove, Port Washington, Grafton, Cedarburg, Thiensville, Brown Deer, to Milwaukee.

This tour will be of great importance to the automobile industry for many reasons. Aside from the publicity of the automobile itself and the benefits to the automobile business, it will have much to do with the improvement of roads and the same handling of motor cars.

The tour passes through twenty-five counties and about 120 towns and can be seen by over 300,000 people, not counting anyone from Milwaukee.

The Case pathfinder will be driven by Mr. C. R. Kilbourne, who has been with the Case company for some time.

Generally He Is.

"When a man axes me for advice," said Uncle Eben, "I doesn't throw out my chest an' feel flattered. Do chances is dat de man who axes for advice is simply koin' around to everybody he knows tryin' to celebrate hisself as a topic of conversation."

But They Seldom Come.

No man ever betrayed a trust without intending to fix it up if things ever came his way.

Few Are Found.

YANKESS, WITH FORD, FISHER, ET AL. HAVE CORNER ON SPITBALL PITCHERS

Another generation of spitball pitchers has suddenly arisen in the big leagues to take the place of any who have gone or who may be going. The fresh crop looks as formidable as the old, and new regulations are likely to be made on the strength of the damning in 1912.

The New York Yankees have a corner on the spitball pitchers, carrying more than any other club in the big leagues. They have Russell Ford, one of the greatest of them all; George McConnell; Ray Fisher; and Jack Quinn. They are accounted above the average. Ford's mastery of the spitball is nothing short of uncanny, and only Ed Walsh, the daddy of them all, has anything on the Yankee when it comes to making the queer delivery perform.

Proof to the contrary.

"Well," said the cannibal chief as his followers brought in the last bit of plucky explorer, "who in blazes ever said 'the bravest are the tenderest'?"

Disastrous Reaction.

"I was awfully worried about Johnny when he had that last sick spell," said Mrs. Lapsling, "and when the doctor told me he was going to get well I went fairly delirious with joy."

OF COMMON INTEREST.

When efforts are made to secure new factories, the only people asked to contribute are people who are supposed to be financially able to help, and so the masses never have an opportunity to express interest in public welfare. But just now there are two propositions in process of development that are within easy reach of every man and woman who enjoys the pleasure of cutting the city of Janesville their home.

One of them is the Boy Scout organization, which has for its sole and only aim the saving of the boy, not in the sense of saving him to the church and preparing him for heaven, but holding him steady through the use of uncertainty until he comes to himself and realizes what life means.

This important work requires a little money, and this can be secured with a little effort, but more than money is needed if the great mass of boys in the city are to be reached and benefited.

In the first place it wants the boys from all kinds of homes—not here and there one, but all of them—for when the homes are interested, moral support will not be lacking, and this kind of support is as necessary to success as financial backing.

The recent pledge has been published so often that it is familiar, but the thought may have been overlooked that it appeals to the average boy more than church creed or home discipline, because it encourages self-reliance and stimulates personal honor.

Many homes turn out boys that are no credit to the family, and it is more often the misfortune than the fault of the home. It doesn't follow that because the father and mother belong to the church that the boy is going to be a little saint. The chances are against him, for Christian homes are not all noted for family government.

The scout organization is an educator because it combines work and play and develops the boy along the lines of least resistance, and there is a time in a boy's life when he can't be developed in any other way. It is a valuable adjunct to the home, the church and the school, and broad enough to reach the vast majority of all helpful influences. Lend a hand and help the good cause along.

The other proposition is the playground movement, which should be of more general interest because it includes the girl, and has no age limit. It is said of some men, that if they were over boys it was so long ago that they have forgotten the circumstance, but this criticism applies to only a limited class.

The man in normal condition seldom forgets how to play. Memory calls back the orchard and stream and the pleasant associations of his boyhood home, and his heart goes out to the boy, while an unexpressed longing possesses him, to be a boy again. The great outdoors is God's playground for boys and girls of all ages, and it is so thoroughly appropriated set aside for a breathing spot for tired humanity.

The villages and towns are well provided with parks and commons, and the larger cities have their public playgrounds conveniently located, but many of the smaller inland cities have neglected the welfare of child life, in this respect.

Janesville has finally been aroused and if the preliminary work of organization is encouraged, as it should be, the city will soon be equipped with healthful resorts for its children. The sentiment is in the air. It should crystallize until it becomes a powerful unit for work.

It is safe to be a booster for the Boy Scouts and the public playground. The investment is safe and non-assessable, and the dividends are beyond financial computation.

A FORECAST.

"We have now approached near enough to the republican national convention to forecast the action of that body. Ex-President Roosevelt will, apparently, have a majority of the northern states, while President Taft seems likely to have a majority of the southern states, including the southern delegates, who represent merely patronage and boodle. Mr. Roosevelt has been careful to arrange for contesting delegates from the south—this was the first indication of his intention to bolt. With a majority of the northern delegates he is in position to have a convention of his own in case his contesting delegates are refused admission.

"The conclusion, therefore, is that Mr. Roosevelt will be the nominee of the regular convention or the nominee of a bolting convention. Get ready for his candidacy—he is quite sure to run.

"Can Roosevelt be defeated? Yes, by any good progressive. A progressive will hold the democratic vote and the republicans who oppose a third term will do the rest. Mr. Clark and Mr. Wilson are the leading progressive candidates—either one of them can defeat Roosevelt. The country will never have a president for a third term."

This is Bryan's forecast, in the last issue of the Commoner. It is safe to say that the Baltimore convention will make no nomination until after the Chicago convention adjourns. Mr. Bryan may be right in regard to Roosevelt being a candidate regardless of what the convention may do. His fighting blood is up and anything is liable to happen. If a stampede falls, a bolt is likely to follow.

Just why the administration is so indifferent to Americans and American interests in Mexico is the question that is troubling a good many people on this side of the border. It is possible that interference might result in trouble with other nations, but some way should be devised to protect our own people in a land which is only separated from us by an imaginary line. The American is safer today in any foreign land, than in Mexico.

The trial of Clarence Darrow at Los Angeles, is developing some queer combinations, and some questions are involved that are not very creditable to parties and organizations. The McNamees have dropped so completely out of sight that their names are forgotten, but men more prominent in labor and political circles now occupy the center of the stage. Justice and humanity demands that no guilty man escape.

The Methodist conference, which just closed its quadrennial session at Minneapolis, was represented by delegates from all parts of the world. Analysis of the vote of the much-discussed amendment question, discloses the fact that the south and foreign Methodism held the balance of power and the obvious rules were left undisturbed. The intelligence of the church in America voted for their repeal.

The Chicago Tribune has outclassed "Colliers" as a national dictator, and now demands that President Taft withdraw from the race, and fall in line with the Roosevelt shooters. The paper expresses sympathy for the president's lack of popularity, and offers some cold consolation, by way of advice, all of which goes to show that sublime egotism is not monopolized by the Oyster Bay candidate.

The report of the Board of Regents on Supt. Cary's resolution, demands the university, as was to be expected, and the state school will continue to employ a teacher for every four scholars. The income tax and the state university should be the prominent issues in the next campaign. They are good talking points and both need reviving.

The trouble with Cuba and Mexico is that the people are incapable of self-government. This is the one and only essential to the life of any republic. Where this foundation principle is lacking, mob rule speedily develops. The future of Cuba is not difficult to forecast, but what will become of Mexico is a problem for the future.

President Taft has decided to remain in Washington during the Chicago convention. Had he been at the capitol for the past few weeks instead of stumping the country, in his own behalf, it would have been better for him, and more creditable to the great nation which he represents.

Colonel Roosevelt has decided that he will not attend the Chicago convention unless circumstances make it necessary. When the "Rough Riders" march down the hill with banners saying the colonel will think it necessary to be on hand and he will be

Heart to Heart Talks.

INGRATITUDE.

"I'm just ashamed of father and mother when we have company. Father will sit out with his knife, and he pours his tea out in his saucer. And mother has a habit I simply can't break her of. She blows on her food to cool it."

That was the plaint of a young woman made to her intimate girl friend. By means of sitting themselves of comforts her parents had kept her in an expensive finishing school for several years until she was graduated.

Now she was ashamed of them.

And they so proud of her!

Of course father and mother ought to be more careful in conforming to good usage; but, you see—

Father and mother are growing a little forgetful in their old days. They would like to make things pleasant for Muriel, and they take very good naturedly the hints about table manners. And they try, but lapse. It is pathetic to note father's consternation when unwittingly he pours his tea out in the saucer to cool it—right when guests are at the table. And once he tried to pour the tea back into the cup, but his old hand trembled, and he spilled it.

It is matter of habit with the old couple.

Mother formed the habit of blowing on her food back in the days when the daughter was at school or the piano and mother had to hurry with the household things.

Those were days of short dinners.

And now?

How should the fond old people know that a fine education would give to their girl ways and manners not theirs? How could they suspect they were putting their daughter above them so that in her fancied superiority she would come to look down upon them?

It frequently is to be hoped they have not discovered!

Educated?

Why, if the girl is really ashamed of her old parents she has not got the A B C of education. Education should make a woman more womanly. It is not designed to put her on a pedestal above her kin.

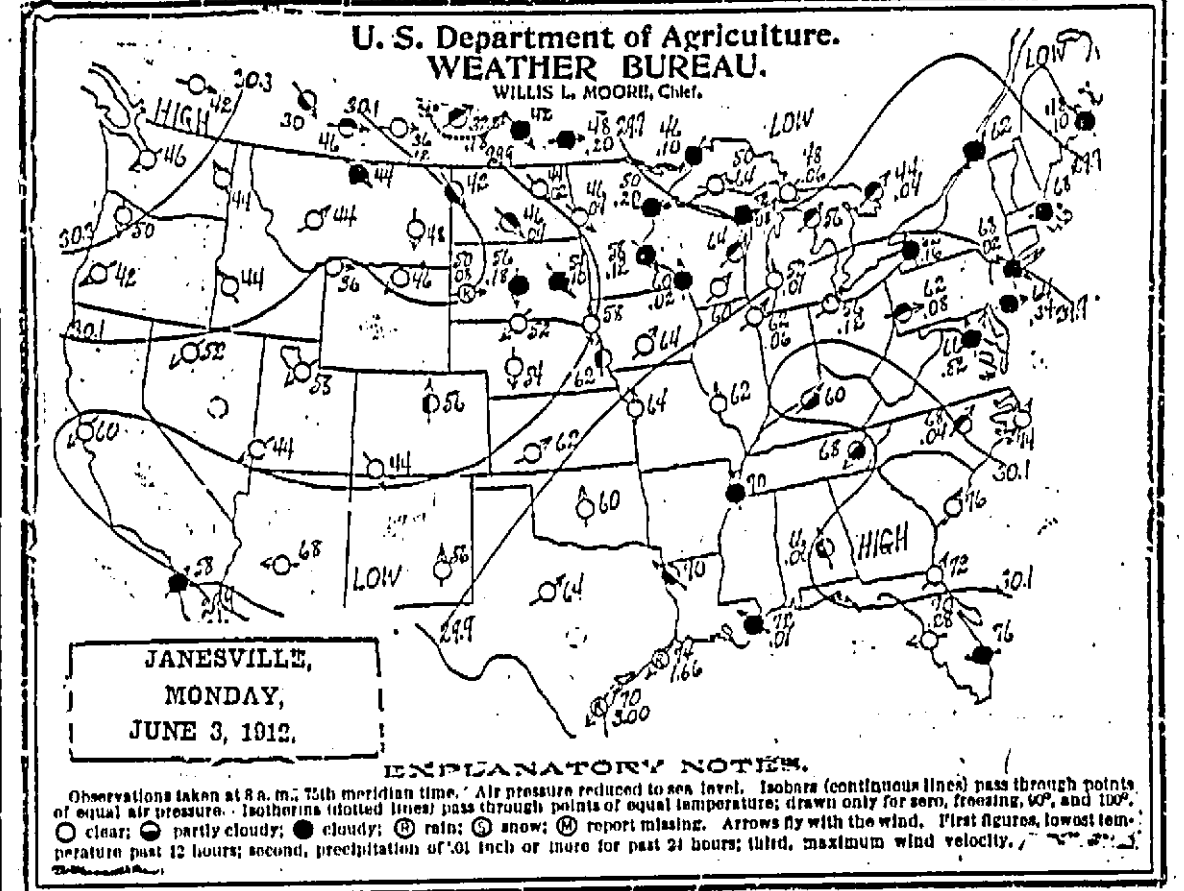

The ingratitude of the girl!

That father has literally sweat blood to pay the daughter's way at school. That mother has died a hundred times in agony and privation and suspense

CLINTON FISHERMEN HAVE EVENTFUL DAY

Boat Capsized on Delavan Lake and Automobile Nearly Turns Turtle on Return Trip.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Clinton, June 3.—Charles Lee, Willington P. Christman, and Willie Pike were fishing in a boat on Delavan Lake Saturday and as Mr. Lee sought to secure his coat on which he had been sitting, in some manner he lost his balance and fell overboard, capsizing the boat. Mr. Christman, an able boatman, succeeded in climbing on the overturned boat, but Mr. Lee was unable to do so and had to hang on. He remained in the water and was towed to shore.

On their way home Lee's automobile ran into the fence across the Milwaukee road east of town where the new road is being built and almost turned turtle making rather an exciting and eventful day.

CLINTON LOCALS.
A large number of Clinton motorists took early advantage of the expiration of the closed season for fishing and enjoyed an outing at Delavan Lake Saturday.

Clinton, on different occasions, has been proud of the records made by local students in the higher institutions of learning, but to no one has there been accorded higher honors than to Miss Georgia Minor, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Minor who is one of 40 out of a class of 850 to win sophomore honors at the State University. This honor is given to pupils who have distinguished themselves in the first two years of their university work. Miss Minor has earned this honor working her way through the university.

Will Johnson of Deloit, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. H. Johnson formerly of Clinton won the high jump at an athletic meet at the Deloit, Rockford and Holyoke high school at Rockford, Saturday, June 1st.

Miss Ester Dieter of Madison visited her classmate, Miss Hazelle Mayberry, from Wednesday evening until Sunday evening, when both young ladies returned to the State University.

Mrs. Will Walker of Deloit visited Mrs. E. B. Stuard a couple of days last week.

Miss Ruth Stearns came up from Deloit Thursday evening to stay over Sunday.

Matt Patten and wife of Lake Geneva were here Friday. Mr. Patten has charge of the homes for one of the wealthy lake shore owners and came over here to look at a very fine carriage house owned by J. H. Greeno and Son.

The graduation class enjoyed a picnic at Delavan Lake Saturday.

Mrs. V. C. Tuttle, Mrs. James Winegar, Mrs. Reed and Doctor and Mrs. Colver went to Maita, Ill., Saturday morning to visit relatives.

A fine boy was born to Mr. and Mrs. Orville Tuttle of Chicago, May 30. Mrs. Tuttle was Miss Ethel McKinney, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. W. G. McKinney.

COMING CONVENTION WELL ADVERTISED

Chairman C. L. Miller of the Eagles' Advertising Committee Has Accomplished Wonders.

If there is anyone in southern Wisconsin that does not know that Janesville is to have the biggest time of its existence on June 18th, 19th and 20th, the three days the state convention of the Fraternal Order of Eagles is in session here, it is not the fault of Chairman Charles L. Miller of the advertising committee. His advertising efforts have been out for the past ten days and bills announcing the aeroplane flights, the spirited motorcycle and auto races and the other good things in store for the amusement of the visitors, have been placed as far west as Mineral Point, eastward to the shores of Lake Michigan, all through northern Illinois, and as far north as the lake across the state from Madison. And from this every corner in the state has been invited to send to aid and in all cities where parties exist bills have been distributed. Mr. Miller has been aided in his work by members of the local people who have donated the use of their autos and have become part of the flying advertising squadron he has organized. Within the next ten days all the railroad stations on the North-western and St. Paul lines will be furnished with advertising matter. Both roads are planning to run special trains to Janesville on Wednesday, the 19th, and it is anticipated that the biggest crowd the city has ever seen will be here.

SCREEN ORDINANCE WELL KEPT SUNDAY

No Complaints Made to Chief of Police—Most of Saloon Proprietors Spend Day Out of Town.

Chief of Police George Appleby reports that the screen ordinance was well observed by the saloon and barroom proprietors yesterday, the first Sunday since its enactment. No complaints were made of any violations and this morning the station cells were empty and there was not a single "drunk" to be arraigned in the municipal court. Most of the saloon men are said to have spent yesterday out of the city, and not a few of them are glad to have the opportunity of a regular rest day when assured that no law-breaking competitor is doing business in their absence. The ordinance is also a boon to the police, who can now view the interior of all fifty-three saloons after closing hours, whereas previously they could see the inside of only two or three. A few moon-keepers are yet inclined to be lax in leaving sufficient light and in closing up promptly at night.

One of the effects of the screen ordinance, however, was the increased number of "picnic" parties by young ladies along the river bank inside the city limits. Both Sunday afternoon and evening several of these parties made themselves most obnoxious to others by the ribald songs and insults to women and young girls who happened to pass their chosen places of retreat. Complaints will be made to the police as the names of several are known and members of the citizens' committee will see that they are prosecuted if the affairs are repeated.

HIGH PRICES REACH RECORD SINCE WAR

Food Products Cost Twenty Percent More Than Last Year and Are Highest Since Sixties.

(BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.)

New York, June 3.—It costs more to live in this month of June, 1912 than ever before in the history of the United States excepting perhaps during war times.

Prices were high a year ago, but they are on the average nearly 10 percent higher this year according to trade authorities' quotations. Food products are the highest on record. Meat, eggs, butter, fish, coffee, tea, sugar, molasses, rice, beans, and peas average 23 percent higher; wheat, corn, oats, barley, rye etc., 33 percent higher.

Fruits are the only things to eat that have grown cheaper in the last twelve months but they were cheaper in 1910. Leather products cost 12 percent more and chemicals and drugs 13 percent more in the last twelve months. Textile goods, however, are a trifle cheaper.

The average advance in food products is nearly 20 percent which means that the housewife must pay $4.00 to fill a market basket that only cost her $3.00 to fill in June, 1911.

PRINCESS PATRICIA IN THE GAZETTEERS

By giving her name to the new district of Ontario Princess Patricia, the English king's cousin, is the latest member of royalty to get into the gazetteers. During the past three centuries the British sovereign families have written their names quite extensively on the maps. Maryland was named in honor of Henrietta Maria, whose husband granted it to George Calvert, the first Lord Baltimore. The Carolinas were named after Charles II, while Georgia was named in honor of George II, in whose reign it was colonized. An island was named after Princess Patricia's great-great-grandmother, the good Queen Charlotte, and her grand parents, Queen Victoria and Prince Albert, are lavishly commemorated on the maps.

Derivation of "Cop."

"When the policemen are referred to as 'cops' or 'coppers,' it is a very legitimate and historical appellation," said the old-timer. "You've never heard whence the term was derived? Well, here it is. 'The first uniformed police force succeeded the old night watch, in the early days of the English possession, and the patrolmen wore large shields of copper. They were furnished until they could be seen shining like a beacon in the reflected rays of the sun, and even at night scintillated in the light of the torches which were forerunners of the white lights of Broadway. In no time the policemen were known as 'coppers.' Port Young America found that too long, and 'cop' was the result."

A Matter of Taste.

A doctor calls butternut the elixir of life. Unless you get it early it usually tastes like an elixir of the cat.

Passed Headache Along.

Bill, with the misery of a splitting headache showing in his eyes, was creeping along the Bowery when he met Jack. "Hello, Bill, what makes you look so sour?" was Jack's greeting. Bill explained. "Headache!" said Jack. "What the deuce are you doing with a headache? No business having it. I never had such a thing in my life." "Well, you've got one now," snarled Bill as he dealt his job's comforter a staggering crack with his stick.

Cheerful Ignorance.

"You'd be surprised," said the woman who is supposed to be wise, "how many people are perfectly ignorant of the correct way to write acceptances and regrets when they are asked to entertainments. It would pay some enterprising woman to go around writing them for those who don't know how. You'd be amazed to see the people who come to me to ask how it is done or to get me to write them. And," she admitted, "if the truth must be told, I don't know so awfully much about it myself."

Why She Was a Failure

SHE wasn't counted a failure by her friends; for she held down a good job, lived independently, dressed well, indulged herself in the amusements she liked and the vacations she wanted, and generally had a good time. But to herself she was a failure.

And she knew she was a failure because she hadn't accomplished any of the things she wanted to accomplish. She hadn't set out in life merely to earn a comfortable living, to eat, to sleep, to dress, and to live like everybody else, just because everybody lived that way. She had set out to do something more, to do something that would make her life different from other people's, different in some fine, big way. And she was going to do something worth doing. But what?

And that had been her stumbling block, that "what?" For as she sat down, one time, and studied out very deliberately and very soberly, why she was a failure, she began to see it was because of that, "what?" because she had never definitely made up her mind to do some one thing, and then thrown all of herself into the doing of it. Her desires or ambitions had always been hazy, vague; and instead of making them take shape, she had drifted. She had taken this thing that came along, or that, and when she became dissatisfied with it, she had changed to something else. But this change was something that offered. She had never firmly taken the helm and directed her own course. Or better yet, she had never put the matter absolutely into the hands of the great Captain, and then thrown all her energy into doing what He directed.

And the more she studied the subject, the more she realized that in order not to be a failure, to herself, and that is the failure that counts, she must turn herself into a dynamo for doing some one thing, and this is to be the thing that most truly expressed her innermost desire. And having decided upon it, then must she throw all else to the winds. She must strip for the race, as it were, and not fritter energy or time on anything else. She must become a human dynamo for the doing of this one thing.

And if one goes about his work in this spirit, he will be happy in it, and he will be successful. Obstacles cannot stand before enthusiasm and determination of this sort. And besides, when one finds his work in this way, and goes at it in this spirit, he is on the right road. And the right road is an open road. There may be some tests in it for character, some stones to remove to strengthen muscles, either mental or spiritual. But there is no insurmountable blocking of the path. Nothing can stand before the force of right.

Many are drifting along as this girl was, inwardly dissatisfied with themselves and their work, yet scarcely knowing what remedy to find, or if found, how to apply it. But if they will be honest with themselves as she was, find out what it is they want to do, and then throw all the dynamic energy of their being into doing it, they right themselves, and henceforth go life's pathway happily.

HOUSEHOLD TALKS

Henrietta D. Grauel

With the advent of warm weather, or, rather, of the early summer months are pushed aside and more delicate foods prepared.

One meat that is always popular is "light" liver, and rightly so. It is light and delicate, and prepared in a way that is never as rich as calf's liver, but it may be used if it is laid in boiling water, after being sliced, for a few minutes. It may then be fried with bacon, or broiled or used in most loaf with veal, but it is not to be broiled or larded and baked as is done with the finer liver from younger animals.

Liver and bacon—Fry very thin slices of fine bacon; when almost crisp lift from the pan and lay in the slices of liver, previously dredged with flour, salt and pepper. Cook until thoroughly done but not dry. The bacon should be cut thin and cooked quickly; the liver cut an inch or more thick and cooked slowly.

Broiled liver—Slice the liver and lay in hot water for a few minutes to draw the blood. Dry and rub with butter and broil eight minutes. When done dress with more butter and serve at once. This is excellent for breakfast with hot boiled rice and fresh, cold, sliced tomatoes dressed with mayonnaise.

Calf's liver baked—Soak the liver in salted water for an hour to draw the blood. Wash dry and cut a pocket with a sharp knife, taking care not to cut through the skin.

Make a forcemeat of bread crumbs, fat pork, and seasonings; add, if you like it, a little sage. Moisten with two eggs and a little butter and hot water. Skewer the opening shut and lay with strips of pork cut fine. Dredge with seasoned flour and bake in a savory roasting pan. This is usually eaten hot, but it is more excellent cold and sliced thin.

Small turkeys—Chop an equal amount of veal and liver together and add a third as much chopped bacon. Season with salt, pepper, thyme, sage and paprika. Mold into balls, dredge with flour and fry in hot butter. Served with tomato sauce these are far better than ordinary hamburger balls.

Pate de foie gras is one of the most expensive of the imported table delicacies; nothing else is so delicious for luncheon and tea sandwiches; an imitation article may be made from pig's liver and calf's tongue that compares well with the imported article. If you have foie's liver for this the result will be still more satisfactory.

Roll the liver in salted water in one vessel and the tongue in another the day before making the pate, as they must both be cold and firm when used. Cut the liver in bits and heat in a mortar, mashing from time to time with mellow butter. Work into this salt and pepper, a half grated nutmeg, and a pinch of cloves; add a teaspoon of mustard, half a teaspoon of Worcestershire sauce, a tablespoon of boiling water, a fourth of a teaspoon of onion salt. Work all this smooth and pack into empty cheese jars. If you leave them or into stoneware jars first buttering the jars well on the inside. The tongue should be pared and cut into cubes to resemble the truffles imbedded in the genuine pate of Strasbourg.

Insert a cube of tongue into the liver as you pack it down and when it is full and smooth as marble cover with melted butter and keep in a cool place.

Another way of cooking liver and bacon together is similar to the winter dish of "pigs in blankets." Slice the liver until tender, cut in cubes and roll in strips of bacon. Dredge with flour and cook on a bacon rack in a hot oven until the bacon is brown and crisp.

bridegroom a present? (2)—Can you give me some information about the bride's bouquet? (3)—Is it considered the proper thing to have a sentiment engraved inside the wedding ring? (4)—It is a violation of good form not to wear a veil with the wedding gown? (5)—ENGAGED.

(1)—In giving herself, the bride is offering what the young man should consider the most valuable gift in the world, and all that he could ask for. (2)—The bridegroom furnishes the flowers carried by the bride and her attendants. The bride chooses her own flowers, which may be white roses or lilies of the valley. When the bride goes away she sometimes gives up her flowers to the wedding guests, who divide them. (3)—In the days of the wide broad wedding ring it was common to have such sentiments as "Endless as this shall be our bliss" engraved inside. The newer wedding rings are too small for this. Only the initials and the date are now engraved inside the ring. (4)—A veil is usually worn at a formal wedding. It is not absolutely essential as a general thing.

CHEESE DISHES.

Cheese is very acceptable in an endless variety of combinations, as sandwiches. A sandwich is prepared thus: Cream two tablespoonfuls of butter, add half a cup of grated American cheese, two tablespoonfuls of anchovy essence, one-fourth of a teaspoon of paprika and mustard, and one-half cup of olives chopped. Season with salt and spread between thin slices of bread.

Cheese Squares.—Prepare a pie crust, roll out and spread thinly with soft butter and sprinkle little dots of cheese no larger than a pea all over it; then lay over this another sheet of crust, press slightly, then cut in two-inch squares and bake. Prick with a fork before baking.

Cheese Balls.—Roll seasoned cream cheese into balls and roll in chopped nuts or parsley or in paprika to serve with the salad at dinner.

Cheese Souffle.—Melt two tablespoonfuls of butter, add one and a half tablespoonfuls of flour, and when well mixed add a half cupful of milk. Season with salt, cayenne to taste and add a cup of chopped cheese; stir over the heat until the cheese melts, remove and cool and add the yolks of three eggs well beaten, and fold in carefully the stiffly beaten whites. Pour into a buttered baking dish and bake a half hour in a slow oven.

Cheese Salad.—Take two cream cheeses, often with cream, and add a half cup of grated American cheese. Soak three-fourths of a tablespoon of gelatin in a tablespoonful of cold water, add a tablespoonful of boiling water and set the dish over hot water until the gelatin is dissolved. Add salt and paprika, the cheese, and a cup of cream whipped. Turn into a mold and garnish with red peppers and asparagus tips. Serve with French dressing.

ON JUSTIFYING ONE'S SELF.

A CERTAIN young woman who had been given a chance to make good in a very big position, lost this chance recently.

And the reason, as expressed by her employers, who, by the way, were quite as disappointed as she, was simply that she didn't know how to receive criticism.

Whenever her employers criticized her, she always fought back. Instead of being grateful to them for giving time and energy to try to make her a successful business woman, she was angry and resentful at every criticism. Instead of profiting by their suggestions and corrections, she always tried to justify herself.

Now to try to vindicate one's self when one knows that a criticism is undoubtedly unjust, is right and reasonable; but always to fight to justify one's self, no matter what the criticism, is decidedly the opposite.

And yet there are a great many employees—and others—who always adopt this latter course. Even when they know in their hearts that they have made mistakes, they try to prove otherwise to those who criticize them.

Of course it is not at all easy to tell when a criticism is just. To be able to weigh a criticism of one's self calmly and dispassionately, and see where it is right and where it is wrong, is a fine art. Even a fairly upright judge finds it difficult to decide a case fairly when his own interests are involved. But one can at least make some effort to do this.

Mistakes make the greatest foundations in the world for success. But they should not be used for anything except the foundation. Once you try to incorporate them into the building itself, you make sure to build a failure which will come crumbling down about your ears sooner or later. Will you then argue and contend with the master builder who helps you to recognize these mistakes? Will you try to deceive him and incorporate some of them in the building in spite of his help? Or will you listen to him calmly and thoughtfully, and thank him for his help?

According to which course you take, you will prove yourself a big or little man.

For it is only the little people who cannot endure criticism. Sir Walter Scott in his journal mentions an anonymous letter sent to him from Italy, full of acid and acrid criticism on his "Life of Bonaparte." Instead of resenting it and justifying himself, he remarks with commendable restraint and wisdom, "His tone is decidedly hostile. But that shall not prevent me from making use of all its criticisms where just." If Scott had been a lesser man he would have scoffed at the criticism, and concluded that the anonymous writer was merely some disgruntled ignoramus.

Again, Epictetus, after hearing a scathing criticism of himself, commented gently, "His little know my other shortcomings or he would not have mentioned these alone."

What a splendid watchword that would make for those of us who are inclined to be resentful of all criticism to remember when we open our mouths to justify ourselves.

A Woman's Observations

By Edna K. Wooley.

Verily, Things Are Changing.

Power and power are the wife-beaters being brought into court. The brutal husband is being slowly but surely impressed with the fact that the law can punish him for doing physical violence to his spouse.

On the other hand, the newspapers are printing more and more reports of cruel wives who think nothing of beating up a husband as a daily exercise.

All in one morning, recently, three men in the same city complained of the strong-arm tactics of their better halves.

One husband told the juvenile court that his wife choked him as her side of an argument concerning the support of their child. Another applied for a divorce from his wife on the ground of extreme cruelty, she having struck and kicked him, and ordered him out of the house, locking the door after his exit.

The third desired a divorce also, declaring that his spouse had beaten him into insensibility a number of times.

Things are sort of changing around aren't they?

Possibly the day of woman's rights has actually arrived, and some men are getting what they have served to the weaker sex for so many generations as the especial privilege of masculinity.

But the abused husband isn't nearly as patient and long-suffering as the abused wife has been. Instead of enduring and trying to hide his bruises and the disgrace from the neighbors, he takes himself to court and cries aloud for the protection of the law.

We pitied the victim of the wife-beater. Usually she was a puny and helpless thing with a brain of a husband.

But does anybody feel sorry for the miserable apology of a man who lets his wife kick him to a frazzle and then goes howling down the public way telling his woes to the world.

Chicago suffragists seem to be following the example of the two illustrious leaders of our Republican party.

The woman's suffrage party of the Windy City has been broken into two factions at dead-end with one another. When the one faction discovered what the other faction was doing to it, there was a perfectly beautiful time! The "steam-roller" rolled and there was an exchange of remarks that might have given pointers to even those one-eyed, but now, nevermore-memorable friends in the presidential race.

However, it will hardly be seemly, just now, for masculinity to criticize these feminine procedures. The women are acting altogether too much like regular politicians. Since imitation is the sincerest flattery, the imitation should not find fault, nor ridicule.

Dinner Stories

An angry woman walked into a grocery shop in Harlem and banged a piece of yellow substance on the counter. "This," she announced sarcastically, "is the soap that does the washing itself. It's the soap that makes washing a pleasure; it's the soap that—"

"That ain't soap, ma'am," interrupted the grocer, as he took the substance in hand and examined it. "Your little girl was here yesterday for a half a pound of cheese and half a pound of soap. That's the cheese."

"The cheese!" exclaimed the woman. "Then that accounts for the other thing."

"What other thing?"

"Why, I lay awake the whole night wondering what made the Welsh rabbit we had taste so queer."

The late Meredith Townsend had an affection for Scotchmen as contributors to the Spectator, of which he was for so many years proprietor and co-editor. Mr. Townsend's liking for the Scots was based on an experience he had in Leth when a boy. He was on holiday, and had run short of money for his return to London. He boldly boarded a London passenger boat, flattered his desire to the captain to go south, explained who he was, and stated that he was without funds. Seemingly favorably impressed by the lad's tale and appearance, the captain in Scotland said that would be all right, and showed him to a cabin. "But," said young Townsend, "this is a saloon. As things are, I should like to do all right." "Na, na, my man," said the captain; "if I trust ye at all, I'll trust ye first class!"

A New York man who prides himself on his knowledge of things epicurean was much interested in an item he discovered in the menu laid before him on the occasion of his visit to a town of the middle west. "This item was 'green bluetfish,'" "Walter," demanded the New Yorker, "what sort of bluetfish are green bluetfish?"

"Fresh, sir," quickly responded the waiter. "Right from the water."

"How dare you try to impose upon me?" continued the clubman. "You know well enough that bluetfish are not taken at this season."

Whereupon the waiter picked up the menu and gave it a careful study as if by that action he would solve bluetfish.

Dollitenness, a quality generally the mystery. Then, with an air of one suddenly enlightened, he added: "Oh, that air? That's no housewife ascribed to the Scots, must be a kind of quinescence among the Shetlanders, if this story from the Christian World may be held to represent them fairly."

The Rev. James Hamilton minister of the Church of Scotland, Rodney street, Liverpool, while on holiday in Shetland, had a narrow escape from drowning. Accompanied by a boy, Mr. Hamilton was fishing for trout, when he slipped on a stone, lost his balance, and being encumbered with heavy wading boots, had great difficulty in keeping his head above water.

Finally he managed to get back to the shore, although in a very exhausted state, and said to the boy: "I noticed that you never tried to help me."

"Na," was the response, "but I was thinkin' o' it!"

CHILDREN REQUIRE TRAINING IN TEMPERATE EATING.

Some months ago I reported the case of a reader who had observed that a child born after a period in which she had lived almost entirely upon wheat, was far less irritable and less fickle in appetite than the older children. Recently I have had an opportunity to investigate personally a case in which an infant had a habit of protruding the tongue spasmodically. The mother had during gestation indulged a longing for strawberries which had frequently been unsatisfied. A taste of strawberry juice corrected the habit in the infant. The belief that much variety in food is a necessity for a man is held by both scientific men and the public.

A rational consideration of the fundamental principles of nutrition would show this to be erroneous. While it is not best to stop suddenly the use of tobacco or coffee or of highly seasoned foods, it is a mistake to educate children to the unnatural habits of eating which are the cause of so much sickness and crime. All animals vary from their natural diet when they have the opportunity, with injurious result, as we see in the case of the cow that will kill itself eating cabbage if given the opportunity, and man has had in the last century unlimited opportunity to vary his diet as the cost of transportation has decreased. It is important that diet of children, especially be made as simple as possible, and mothers should be especially careful not to indulge foolish longings, but when they are uncontrollable should satisfy them. Instead of giving way to the tendency to eat anything, the virtue of temperance in eating needs to be cultivated.

NEED HELP OF GOD TO BUILD CHARACTER

INHERITED TRAITS, WILL POW-ER, EDUCATION AND CUL-TURE INSUFFICIENT.

NEW BIRTH ESSENTIAL

The Rev. T. J. Roberts, Pastor of United Brethren Church Gives Thoughtful Sermon.

That inherited traits, the force of the will, and training are insufficient and inadequate means of developing character without a new spiritual birth and the help of God, was the contention of the Rev. T. J. Roberts, pastor of the United Brethren church, who, last evening delivered a sermon on the subject of "The Secret of Character." The Rev. Roberts took as his text the thirtieth verse of the first chapter of the Gospel of John: "Which are born, not of blood, nor of the will of the flesh, nor of the will of man, but of God."

"In this verse," began Rev. Roberts, "four sources of character are contrasted. The author deliberately put them over against one another to let the reader determine for himself which is the most effective."

"The first has to do with blood, or inheritance. This is a subject which many of us fondly dwell upon. We love to recount the virtues of our parents, the achievements of our ancestors, and congratulate ourselves that some of their strength has passed on to us."

"But men are neither great nor good, nor bad, because of ancestry. It is true that inheritance throws its influence in one direction or another, and that it is a true source of character, but it is not dependable in itself. We are endowed with a will and can become more or less than inherited traits alone would have made us."

"The Jews took great pleasure in affirming and reaffirming that they were the children of Abraham, as if this fact established them in greatness and in virtue. They felt that this 'covered a multitude of sins.' So the Romans prided themselves on their nationality, the Englishmen on theirs, and we, too, are proud to be Americans and feel that our nationality makes us superior to others."

"We also look toward our lineage as a source of character and measure of greatness. We are Sons of the Revolution, Sons of the Civil War, or trace our family line back to some one ancestor who acquired fame. In fact, I sometimes think we almost believe these things recommend us in the sight of God. A good inheritance is not to be despised, but one can be the son of the greatest man who ever lived and turn out a rascal, or a son of the most despised and become the greatest."

"It is said from good authority that we do not inherit insanity, but merely a weakness, that if disregarded will result in insanity. A similar statement is made with regard to tuberculosis, and it also applies to sin. We do not inherit sin, but a weakness which makes it easier to sin than to do right. Men inherit appetites and passions which lead them into temptation. Sin, no more than virtue, is handed down from father to son."

"Those who have a predisposition to insanity, or tuberculosis, or to sin, are the very ones who should not succumb; they are forewarned, and should profit by the mistakes that have been made."

"Will, or government, is very important in character building. A country may have the largest army and navy, but these in themselves will not save it from its enemies. There must be something back of them. Nor will government alone safeguard the home."

"There is a vast deal of difference between government and training. Forcing a boy to do right is government, making a boy want to do right is training. Training is to make the power within the individual work out. The power that works from within is restraint."

"England and France at one time were threatened with revolution. One had the most powerful army in the world, but political and social rottenness; the other the conservative power of the Protestant church, healthy ideals and ideas. France exploded, but England weathered the storm."

"The father says of his disobedient son, 'I'll break that boy's will.' Almost as well break his back or his neck. The boy will need that will and need it badly. What is needed is to make that will exert itself in the right direction."

"The will of man, intellect, education and culture are not guarantees of character building. Educated rascals are the worst and most dangerous. We have an idol which we call culture, but men will not become good through culture, though culture is an aid to character development. To insure the growth of character there must be a new spiritual birth. Men must be born of the will of God. Above all is needed a proper regard for God and divine things. I tremble for the individual who is repelled from them, who is afraid to attend or take part in a religious meeting, or engage in Christian work. It is still on the outside and can't get into a full realization of his possibilities."

ECONOMY.

(By Howard L. Rann.)

Economy is one of the lost arts which has not been practiced in this country since the panic of 1893. It is something which a man is always going to invite in, but never catches up with. Economy is a sort of mental reverse English which slows up people who are thinking of something. In fact, the average man would rather be accused of breaking into the baby's auto than be charged with practicing economy. It used to be considered a virtue to lay up something for a rainy day, but now the little wage earner carries endowment life insurance and hurries through his next month's salary before he gets to it. Very few people economize hard enough nowadays to raise any blisters. The worst thing that can happen to a man is to earn a reputation for economy by sleeping in the chair car or carrying off the hotel stationery. The average community is never able to distinguish between the father of a large family whose best suit shines like a cheval mirror, and the ingrained tightwad who would hunt a nickel through a board walk until his eyes ran together in one red burial blent. The worst form of economy practiced in this country is that used by congress just prior to a presidential election, when several millions of dollars are saved until the next session. Economy has a very baleful effect, when used to excess. Many a close-dated mayor has been reelected by the unanimous vote of a conscientious electorate who insisted upon paying every highway in the city but the one upon which they abut. The worst enemy of the republic is the statesman who objects to planting a $25,000 postoffice building in a city of 355 souls, including the night watch. Economy would be a good thing if a man could get away with it without being detected by the neighbors and tagged in a conspicuous and unpleasant manner whenever he slipped into a second barber shop.

"REFLECTION CAGE" FOR OHIO PRISONER

Because of his refusal to work at contract labor in the Ohio penitentiary, the authorities of that institution are building a cage-like cell for William Simpson, who is now in second-term prison. This cell, known as a "reflection cage," is semi-circular. One side is solid iron. The semi-circular portion is made of bars close together, the space being barely large enough for a man to stand, sufficiently small so he may not see down or over his shoulders. Prisoners have a horror of this cage and it has never failed to bring results.

"The Unfortunate Weather. "We shouldn't blame the weather for changin' so," said the old dorky. "It's a compliment for de worl dat de weather tries its best to please all de people in it, an' de only way it kin succeed in pleasin' 'um is to keep changin'. But de way will never come w'on de whole worl' 'il gibe it a recommendation."—Atlanta Constitution.

UNCLE WALT
The Poet Philosopher
Copyright, 1909, by George Matthews Adams
BY WALT MASON

I said to the butcher, Jones, "Your mutton is mostly bones, and your milked beef fills my soul with grief, and your fish is as hard as stones. Your chickens are on the blink, and your yard and your bacon stink; so I'll cross the street for a bunch of meat—they sell better goods, I think." The butcher he said: "Your wise words, I'm certain, could not be worse; it's enough to make a dead man break the doors from the village hearse. The man who would write such rhymes should lie in the jail bottom with fetters to bind his wrists behind to keep him from further crimes."

said to this Jones next day: "I've come my account to pay; you are selling meat that can not be beat, and a tribute should come your way." The butcher he said to me: "I read all your rhymes with glee; they are out of sight and I hope you'll write till the end of eternity." You'll find things about the same; you'll stick on a neighbor's frame, and he'll want you back with an ugly threat and show he can play that game. You hand him a nice bouquet, and the scheme will surely pay; for me he'll rake around till a rose he's found, and the same he'll pass your way.

Where the Man Should Walk.

A matter that is debated now and then of late is in regard to the position that a man shall take when escorting a lady on the street. In this country he always takes the position next to the curb. In Europe he takes the inside place, the theory being that in case of any trouble he would crowd the lady if on the outside and give her less opportunity to escape. If the escort is on the right and the crowd turns to the right, it will be more likely to jostle the lady.

Be patient, dear; breakfast will be up in a minute!

Before the Hatching.
A peculiar and invariable symptom of the chicken mania is the mathematical facility of the victim. He becomes a hog for figures and on statistics, and performs prodigies of arithmetical stunts with them. Give him a hoarse-throated rooster and three industrious hens and he can figure himself into the millionaire class within three years at the outside, forgetting that there are about five hundred different ways in which a chick can die and it is never satisfied until it has tried every one of them and invented some of its own.

PUBLIC IS ASKED TO AID IN THE MATTER

Persons Answering Fraudulent Advertisements Asked to Notify Gazette.

The Gazette is desirous of keeping out of its columns fraudulent advertising and asks the assistance of its patrons to that end.

There are any number of concerns in the country who make a living through a merely worded advertisement, offering golden opportunities, and these unscrupulous people find fertile ground for work among the masses.

Many orders are received in the Gazette mail for advertising which are returned as objectionable and where there is a question as to the qualifications the advertiser is omitted.

All newspapers have this experience. But even with the utmost care there will be an occasional advertisement which will pass the scrutiny of the business department of the paper and find its way into the columns.

The Gazette will deem it a favor if you will report to the office any trouble which may have been experienced through the answering of such an advertisement.

In Any Case It Was the Cat.
Two Columbia students rooming together cook some of their meals themselves and take turns in doing the marketing. One of them brought home two chops the other night, intending them for breakfast. Some time in the night a cat stole one of the chops. This brought about the first quarrel that had arisen between the young men. They could not decide the question "Whose chop did the cat eat?"
